*Winner of two awards

Available photos and all of the names of the 131 distinguished recipients of the 126 BERKELEY PRIZE awards starting in the year 2000, counting both winners of dual awards and each individual in the various two-person teams. This worldwide array reflects the 2100+ undergraduates from 69 countries who have participated in all of the PRIZE competitions since 1999.

ARCHITECTURE IS A SOCIAL ART

The BERKELEY PRIZE supports the study and teaching of the social art of architecture. The online, two-stage Essay Competition (in English) is open to undergraduate architecture majors in accredited schools of architecture throughout the world. The Travel Fellowship Competition is open to the Essay Competition semifinalists.

PURSE

Essay Competition: 25,000 USD; 7,500 USD first prize; Multiple prizes

Travel Fellowship Competition: Stipend and airfare; Multiple prizes

2018 JURORS

Benard Acellam, Uganda: Architect; Architecture faculty, International University of East Africa in Kampala. Now working with Technology Consults Limited on the design and documentation of the Bibia-Elegu Cross-Border Market in Uganda. Among other awards, UN-Habitat social media and blogging award on the theme of eco mobility. Benard won both the Second Place Prize in the 2015 Essay Prize Competition, and a Travel Fellowship in 2011. He is a member of the BERKELEY PRIZE Committee.

Neelakshi Joshi, India: Architect and urban planner. Previously worked at the Auroville Earth Institute, UNESCO chair for earth construction specializing in low cost and sustainable earth-based construction. Subsequent residential project in Ladakh, reviving the local rammed earth techniques and passive solar design, was awarded the Terra Award 2016. She is currently a doctoral candidate at the Dresden Leibniz Graduate School, Germany. Neelakshi won both a First Place Prize in the 2009 Essay Prize competition, and an Architectural Design Fellowship in the same year.

Thomas-Bernard Kenniff Ph.D., Canada: Architect; Professor in the Environmental Design program at the École de design, Université du Québec à Montréal (UQAM). He has previously worked in Toronto, Barcelona, and Madrid. Since 2004, Dr. Kenniff's research has addressed the public realm, particularly the making of social space. Currently working on a three-year design-research project on the construction of Montréal's public realm over the last 20 years. Thomas-Bernard received the First Place Prize in the 2002 Essay Prize competition. He is a member of the BERKELEY PRIZE Committee.

Preeti Talwai, United States: Currently working as a User Experience Researcher at X (formerly Google[x]), the innovation lab of Google where she studies human needs, attitudes, motivations, and behaviors across different domains and ecosystems. At X, she is the only researcher with an architectural background. She says of her work: "To me the most exciting thing about the social art of architecture is its universal significance to almost any discipline." Preeti won a BERKELEY PRIZE Architectural Design Fellowship in 2011. She is a member of the BERKELEY PRIZE Committee.

SCHEDULE

Competition opens: September 15, 2017; Stage One entries due: November 1, 2017.
